Calendar: April 2009

Greenhouse Committee Meeting: April 4th: Sale Kick-off Brunch!

The Greenhouse Committee is convening the April 4, 2009 meeting at 10:00 AM at the Teaneck Greenhouse, located at the foot of Lindbergh Blvd. Enjoy the atmosphere of a greenhouse with scents of breakfast ---better yet, come and share the repast!

Garden Club Meeting & Program: April 9, 2009 Coal Fields and Plants

Gary Manageri, Secretary, New Jersey Paleontology Club and expert on coal fossils. This topic is unusual---come and learn about the fascinating role plants played in the making of coal, see and examine coal fossils. Think about evolving plants ---and the changes in the land we now cultivate.

May 14, 2009 program: Steven Kristoph, Folklore and Plants.

Garden Club Meetings & Programs: 7:30 PM Rodda Community Center, 250 Colonial Court, Teaneck, N.J., unless noted otherwise.

Aura's Niche: Get a Refill For Your Garden!

Don't miss out on our Annual Spring Plant Sale. We offer a great start on spring/summer planting with a large variety of favorites including annuals, perennials, indoor plants, herbs and much more with many surprises for your garden.

*If you would like to donate your time by helping us with the Grace Kriegel Memorial Herb Garden located at the Teaneck Library, with the annual Teaneck Firehouses planting or with other programs we have during the year, please come down to the Teaneck Greenhouse and give us your name and info, we will be more than happy to have you join one of our groups of volunteers. Thank you in advance for your consideration..... Aura

Plant Symbols for the Holidays

Easter: April 12-Lily. Symbol of spirituality, purity, Resurrection(Christian).

Passover: April 10-herbs on the Seder plate: parsley dipped in salt water reminds one of hyssop dipped in blood: which helped free the Jews. Bitter herbs are used (horseradish), symbolizing the bitterness of slavery.

When did you start gardening? "I didn't start until I got married-1954-And not really until I moved to Teaneck-1960---I grew up in the city." John joined the Garden Club after he retired in 1991, and came into the Greenhouse, in 1992: "Oh, it's been years and years!" He is a Master Gardener, and also spends time with orphan boys and girls, showing them how to catch fish.

...progress with garden? He started vegetable gardening in his yard after moving to Teaneck in 1960, using something the previous owner left behind: " a concrete fishbowl." John removed it, then grew collards, kale and tomatoes in the area. Before long, he was hooked on growing his own vegetables, and expanded the garden to 25'. Then the garden grew to 50' by 25'. He continued with the same vegetables---joined with string beans, swiss chard and experiments, most of which succeeded.

...owe your success to? "I was lucky." Those of us who have observed John's careful planting of seeds in the Greenhouse know there was more than luck involved.

...Special techniques? A previous issue of the Newsletter profiled his practice of covering the vegetable seedlings with row covers, a very lightweight netting that allows rain and sun through, but blocks insects. The cover is removed after a couple of weeks to allow for pollination. "Also, fences-I use fences to keep out the animals, and there is no trouble."

...a challenge to grow? "Eggplant---I only got one on a plant-also butterfly bushes."

...Now? "I cut the garden in half---too much". That half equals 25'x25' "I give away my vegetables; my neighbors come up to me and say'where's my vegetables!"

Favorites? What I started with--"Tomatoes, chard, kale, beans."

Woe Be the Wily Woodchuck!

"As I came home through the woods with my string of fish, trailing my pole, it being now quite dark, I caught a glimpse of a woodchuck stealing across my path, and felt a strange thrill of savage delight, and was strongly tempted to seize and devour him raw; not that I was hungry then, except for that wildness which he represented." Henry David Thoreau, Walden. Thoreau was angry at woodchucks: one ate 1/4 an acre of his bean crop. The woodchuck has little reprieve from the wrath of other gardeners. This is a quick review of the methods most often used to curb the woodchuck's enthusiasm for garden areas.

Shooting? There is a $99 fine for shooting the woodchuck out of season---but there is very little time that is out of season! The season is :Sept.29-Dec. 6, 2008-Dec. 15, 16, and 18-31; 2009, Jan. 1 to Feb. 16, 2009; March 2-Sept. 30. Live Traps? Advice from many sources includes the observation that live-trapping chucks and letting them go causes their premature death. Their habits are inflicted on new people. It's also illegal to release a wild animal in NJ. Woodchucks do not appear to be scared by motion devices, nor much by a scarecrow. Sprays and hot sauces appear to affect them little---and the home gardener much. The amount of time for reapplication and concern about the chemicals on produce was key here. Finally, the use of an electrified fence was seen as effective---as is a fence dug very deep under the ground. The fence needs to be bent outwards-and hung in a wobbly way so the critter cannot parade on top of the fence in front of you, taunting you with vegetables.

If the effort becomes too much, The New York Times featured a Thoreaurian way of dealing with the woodchuck: a recipe for Woodchuck au Vin, as well as a recipe for Peppery Woodchuck in Wine and Olives (June 05, 2008. ) Thoreau didn't have it so good!

Verse: in time of daffodils

in time of daffodils(who know the goal of living is to grow) forgetting why, remember how in time of lilacs who proclaim the aim of waking is to dream, remember so(forgetting seem)

in time of roses(who amaze our now and here with paradise) forgetting if, remember yes

in time of all sweet things beyond whatever mind may comprehend, remember seek(forgetting find)

and in a mystery to be (when time from time shall set us free)
forgetting me, remember me

A Note from the Horticultural Director, Christina Mackensen

The month of March was a very busy one for all involved with the greenhouse. We have successfully completed the very labor intensive task of transplanting the thousands of plugs into 6 packs or bigger pots.

Thanks a lot to the group leaders and their members who helped. A special thanks to Fred Dolch whose advice, recommendations and tireless work are invaluable. Now the plants will be growing and ready for the spring sale.

We have a beautiful assortment of annuals, After an initial short setback, the geraniums look healthy now and I am sure will be top sellers again. In the herbs section, there are over twenty selections. We have a wide variety of tomatoes that will be seeded very soon. We are growing peppers and eggplants and, of course, there will be houseplants available.

I am excited about all that is growing in the greenhouse and hopefully, this will be a very successful season for our Garden Club. ---Christina

Who: *Master Gardeners & Garden Club Members of Bergen County

When: *Sunday, April 26, 2009 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.
(Rain or Shine!)

Where: *Bill Kolvek Perennial Farm

267 Schoolhouse Road, Chestnut Ridge, N.Y. 10977

The Master Gardeners of Bergen County and Garden Club members throughout Bergen County are invited to an exclusive afternoon gathering at Bill Kolvek Perennials (BKP). BKP is a plant nursery. Native and exotic perennials, grasses, ferns, vines and woody plants are grown and primarily offered for wholesale distribution. Bill aims to offer plants that grow well and are highly recommended for success in our region.

Please join us as Bill offers Master Gardeners of Bergen County and Garden Club members and an afternoon at the farm. Bill will conduct tours of the farm operations (so wear appropriate footwear) and share perennial propagation and growing tips. Beautiful plant material may be purchased and refreshments will be provided. See www.bkperennials.com.
